Playing format:

The Member Federations of the teams in each group of the Phase 1 may decide to play their matches in the format of a tournament in one venue. In a specific group, the majority of all Member Federations must agree or disagree (3:1 or 1:3 decision) accordingly and the EHF must be informed of the respective agreement and its particulars within the deadline. If the Member Federations do not find an agreement (in case of 1:3 or 2:2 decision) among them to play the matches in a tournament, the home and away format and the corresponding playing modalities decided by the EHF and communicated are to be implemented. The organisation right will be drawn separately. Depending on the number of qualifying teams of each tournament the respective playing schedules will apply.

b) Phase 2 – play-off matches

Germany, Norway and the three best ranked teams from the EHF EURO 2016 in Sweden qualify directly for the participation in 2017 Women's World Championship in Germany. All other teams participating in the final round of the EHF EURO 2016 qualify directly for the 2017 Women's World Championship play-off in June 2017. The remaining teams for the 2017 Women's World Championship play-off come from the Phase 1 qualification matches.

Women's 2017 World Championship Qualification Europe

The play-off matches will be played in a KO-system with first leg matches (09 to 11 June 2017) and second leg matches (13 to 15 June 2017). No double matches in one country are allowed.

The winners of the play-off matches will qualify for the final tournament of the 2017 Women's World Championship in Germany.

The draw of the play-off matches will take place on the final weekend of the Women's 2016 EHF EURO in Sweden on 18 December 2016.

Qualification Phase 1

The qualification Phase 1 will be played over three weeks in home and away matches or in a tournament in one venue among the following national teams:

AUT, BLR, FAR, GRE, ISL, ISR, ITA, KOS, LTU, MKD, POR, SUI, SVK, TUR, UKR (15 in total)

The qualification matches will be played in 3 groups of 4 teams and 1 group of 3 teams. The seeding to the different pots is based on the results of the 2016 EHF EURO Qualification. The 1st and 2nd ranked team of groups 1 to 3 as well as the winner of group 4 qualify for the play-off matches, which will be played on 9-11 and 13-15 June 2017.

In case of an agreement among the teams of one group to play the qualification matches in a tournament in one venue the teams have to inform the EHF about their decision latest by Monday, 25 July 2016. The respective organisation right will be drawn afterwards.
